Course Overview

The last few decades have seen a rapid change in our lifestyles and consequently in the society itself. This rapid change is drawing heavily on our adaptive resources, producing increased stress and tension as one has to cope with the increased expectation and pressure. Mental illness and distress are becoming increasingly common and these account for a significant burden of disability within our community.

More so, dramatic changes in family, job, business due to pandemic has increased the need for counselling and behaviour therapy for everyone. The need of the moment is therefore, mental health professionals who can deal with this situation.

Unfortunately, there's a gaping hiatus between the number of persons seeking psychological help and the available professionals, thus leaving a large proportion of persons distressed and unattended.

There is also a growing interest amongst the youth in understanding and enhancing positive mental health and wellbeing. So Ramakrishna Sarada Mission Vivekananda Vidyabhavan in collaboration with Sister Nivedita University is going to start a 2 years counselling course.

Course Objective:

The major objective of the course is to impart the micro-skills of counseling and hands-on training in counseling to those students or professionals who wish to pursue their career in the helping field. The course places equal emphasis on theoretical understanding of the concepts of counselling as well as practical experience.

Course Highlights:

- Centered around providing in depth knowledge of Human Psychology
- Special emphasis given on skills and techniques of counselling
- Interactive sessions, case discussions and role plays/mock sessions
- Practice oriented course with project works
