They thoroughly discussed the topics, the laws and amendments and the political problems about POCSO and child sexual abuse. Students were not much aware about POCSO.

The students were able to get a clear picture of child abuse and domestic violence in our society. These include: Right to life and survival – A child must be shielded from any kind of physical, psychological, mental and emotional abuse and neglect. Best interests of the child – The primary consideration must be the harmonious development of the child.

We had a scope to know about domestic violence also. It recognises a woman's right to live in a violence-free home. To realize this right, the Act recognises a woman's right to residence and her right to obtain protection orders under the law.

The students were able to get a picture of child abuse in our society. They got information on POCSO as a mean to protect child rights.
