Brief description of the event: On 30th May 2024, the Department of Philosophy organized a seminar talk celebration of Indian Philosopher's Day. The event was attended by students from Semesters II, IV, and VI, who gathered to learn from the distinguished speakers, Pr. Vedarupaprana and Pr. Ishtatmaprana. The seminar commenced with an insightful lecture by Pr. Vedarupaprana, who introduced the students to some of the most influential Indian philosophers, including Sri Ramakrishna, Gautama Buddha and Swami Vivekananda. She explored their contributions to Indian philosophy and emphasized the relevance of their teachings in contemporary times. Following this, Pr. Ishtatmaprana delivered a thought-provoking discussion on the philosophical teachings of these great thinkers. She highlighted the ethical and spiritual dimensions of their philosophies and how they continue to influence modern philosophical discourse.

Program Outcome: The seminar was a great success, with active participation from all attending students. It provided a valuable opportunity for them to delve deeper into the rich heritage of Indian philosophy. The students gained a broader understanding of the philosophical contributions of Indian thinkers and were encouraged to explore these ideas further in their academic pursuits. Overall, the event fostered a deeper appreciation for the intellectual legacy of Indian philosophers among the students.
