Brief description of the event – The Department of Journalism and Mass Communication organised a heartwarming Teacher's Day Celebration on November 22, 2024, in Room Number 43, Nibedita Bhavan. The event commenced at 12:15 pm, with active participation from both students and faculty members.

Our department celebrated the day with great enthusiasm and heartfelt participation. The celebration featured an array of cultural performances that highlighted the talents and creativity of the students. The program started with a heartfelt rendition of Rabindra Sangeet, performed by students which set a serene and reflective mood. This was followed by poetry recitations by students, showcasing their literary flair and paying homage to their teachers through their expressive words.

The event also included an energetic and graceful dance performance by the students, which added a dynamic and joyful element to the celebration. Each performance was met with enthusiasm and applause, reflecting the strong bond and mutual respect between teachers and students. The program provided a platform for students to express their gratitude and appreciation for their teachers, blending cultural expression with heartfelt emotions. A standout moment of the event was the mesmerizing dance performance by students on a recorded song performed by faculty member Sreejaya Chatterjee.

The program completed with a musical tribute where students and teachers collectively sang Rabindra Sangeet, creating a serene and soulful ambiance. This act not only celebrated the rich cultural heritage of Bengal but also reflected the harmonious bond between teachers and students. Following this, students presented a recitation that highlighted their creativity and emotional connection with their mentors. The eloquent performance captivated the audience and reinforced the importance of self-expression. The graceful choreography and soulful creation symbolized the unity and collaborative spirit within the department. Our department provided food packets to our beloved students to ensure their well-being and comfort during the event.

The event served as a platform for students to showcase their talents and express gratitude towards their teachers. It also highlighted the department's commitment to nurturing cultural and artistic skills alongside academic excellence.

Programme Outcome –

A programme outcome is a concise statement detailing the knowledge, skills, attitudes, or values participants gain from an event. It highlights how the event contributes to their personal or professional growth. For example, in a cultural event, learning outcomes may include enhanced teamwork, improved organizational skills, cultural appreciation, and increased confidence in self-expression. These outcomes provide a measure of the event's impact and its alignment with educational or developmental objectives.

The celebration yielded several crucial learning outcomes:

- Strengthened Teacher-Student Bonding:

The collaborative performances, particularly the singing of Rabindra Sangeet by both students and teachers, created a shared experience that deepened mutual respect and appreciation. This reinforced the emotional and professional connection between students and faculty.

- Cultural Enrichment:

The inclusion of Rabindra Sangeet and traditional dance performances allowed students to engage with Bengal's rich cultural heritage. They learned the importance of cultural preservation and its relevance in contemporary academic settings.

- Enhanced Confidence and Self-Expression:

Students showcased their talents in a supportive environment, which helped boost their confidence and encouraged them to express their emotions and creativity through various artistic forms.

- Teamwork and Event Management Skills:

The organization of the event required meticulous planning and coordination. Students learned the significance of teamwork, task delegation, and time management, which are essential skills for professional growth.

- Recognition of Teachers' Role:

The celebration highlighted the invaluable contribution of teachers in shaping students' lives. It inspired participants to appreciate their mentors and understand the importance of guidance in both academic and personal development.

The celebration concluded on a joyous note, leaving everyone inspired and deeply connected. This was a successfully completed event, leaving lasting memories and valuable lessons that will positively influence students' academic journeys and overall personal growth.
