Category: Group Theatre

Date Held: 30/04/2025

Time: 10.30a.m.-11.30a.m.

Venue: Room No. 8

Number of Participants: 29 students and 3 faculty members

Brief Description of the Event: The students of the department of Education staged a play showcasing India's tribal communities, which was an initiative to observe the month of April as 'Dalit History Month'.

The students showed dramatic representation of the lives, customs, and resilience of tribal communities in India. The play opened with a traditional tribal invocation dance, followed by four powerful scenes depicting:

1. Daily Life & Culture: Showcasing the art, attire, language, music, and rituals of different tribes.
2. Folk Tales & Myths: A dramatized retelling of a Gond folktale highlighting the tribe's deep spiritual connection with nature.
3. Modern Challenges: Addressing land displacement, deforestation, and marginalization in contemporary society.
4. The Call to Preserve: A hopeful conclusion calling for inclusion, cultural preservation, and environmental respect.

The students made appropriate use of-

- Costumes & Props: Authentic tribal attire, handmade jewellery, and natural materials were used to recreate a genuine aesthetic.
- Music & Dance: Live drumming, bamboo instruments, and tribal folk dances added a vibrant rhythm to the performance.

The performance was met with enthusiastic applause and appreciation from the audience, a panel discussion followed, enriching the experience with real-life insights into tribal issues.

Outcome of the Event:

The event was successful in raising awareness about the rich cultural heritage, traditions, and challenges faced by India's tribal communities through the medium of drama and performing arts. It served as a meaningful cultural bridge, educating the audience and honoring the unique heritage of India's tribal communities. It emphasized the need for empathy, awareness, and action in preserving these invaluable cultures. It was a great way to promote cultural awareness and appreciation.
