Description of the Event:

The Bengali Recitation competition, organized by the Cultural Sub Committee of RKSMVV, provided a platform for students to showcase their oratory and interpretative talents through the art of Bengali poetry. The event, held on 10th February 2025, invited participants to recite poems that reflected the rich literary heritage of Bengal. Participants carefully chose poems that resonated with a range of emotions—love, resistance, nostalgia, and philosophical reflection. With expressive modulation, appropriate diction, and emotional resonance, students captivated the audience and judges alike.

This competition was not just a display of literary appreciation but also a tribute to Bengali cultural identity. The event encouraged students to connect with the lyrical beauty of the language and brought the classroom into a shared space of poetic expression.

Outcome:

The event nurtured a deeper appreciation for Bengali literature and poetry. It enhanced participants' confidence in public speaking, improved their pronunciation and articulation, and allowed them to explore performance as a medium of literary interpretation. It also promoted the importance of preserving linguistic and literary traditions among young learners.
