

- Name of the activity : Annual Excursion to Deulti, Howrah.
- Category : Departmental Activity
- Organizing Unit: Department of Geography, RKSMVV
- Date : 12.02.2025
- Time : 7.30 am - 6.30 pm
- Venue : Deulti, Howrah
- Number of Participants: 52 students of SEM-1, 3, 5 and all faculty of Geography Department
- Brief Description of the Event : The Department of Geography had organized Annual Excursion to Deulti, Howrah on 12th February, 2025. The journey began early in the morning as participants boarded the buses, filled with enthusiasm and anticipation. Upon arrival at the destination, the group explored key attractions, including ‘Sharat Kuthi’, Madan Gopal Temple, Rupnarayan river, and scenic beauty of the rural environment. The tour guide provided fascinating insights, making the visit both educational and enjoyable.
- Programme Outcome : Interactive activities, such as team games, photography sessions, added an element of fun and engagement. Meals were shared in a lively atmosphere, fostering camaraderie among participants. The excursion also provided an opportunity for relaxation and appreciation of nature. The day concluded with a closing session where participants shared their experiences and reflections. It was evident that the excursion had achieved its goal of offering a refreshing break, strengthening bonds, and enhancing knowledge.

At ‘Sharat Kuthi’

At Madan Gopal Temple

