Brief description of the event:

The Department of Sociology organised a Special Lecture on “Research Methodology” on 15th May, 2026. The lecture was delivered by Dr. Jyotiprasad Chatterjee, Associate Professor of Barrackpore Rastraguru Surendranath College (BRSNC). Students from the Departments of Sociology, Political Science, and Journalism & Mass Communication attended the programme along with faculty members.

The objective of the lecture was to provide students with an understanding of research methodology and different methods of data collection such as surveys, interviews, and questionnaires. Dr. Chatterjee explained various types of survey questions including open-ended, close-ended, dependent, and matrix questions. He also highlighted the importance of maintaining neutrality, avoiding bias, and following ethical practices during research.

The speaker further discussed interviews as an important research tool and explained the need for patience, consent, and unbiased interaction with respondents. The session concluded with an interactive discussion where students actively participated by asking questions related to research practices. Overall, the lecture was informative, engaging, and beneficial for the students.

Programme Outcome

- Students gained basic knowledge about research methodology and data collection techniques.
- Participants understood the importance of surveys, interviews, and questionnaires in research.
- Students learned about ethical and unbiased research practices.
- The lecture encouraged critical thinking and interest in academic research.
