The NSS Unit organised an HIV Awareness Programme to educate students about HIV/AIDS, its causes, modes of transmission, prevention and the importance of early testing and treatment. The programme aimed to create awareness, dispel common myths and misconceptions related to HIV, and promote a responsible and compassionate attitude towards people living with HIV.

During the programme, students were informed about the difference between HIV and AIDS and the major ways through which HIV can and cannot be transmitted. Emphasis was placed on preventive measures, safe and responsible behaviour, regular testing, and the importance of seeking appropriate medical advice. The session also highlighted that HIV cannot be transmitted through casual contact such as sharing food, shaking hands, hugging, or sitting together.
